Category	Team Building	Ice-breaking program for conferences
Field	Music

This is an ice-breaking program designed to bring conference participants together at the start of the event. Participants feel united by taking part in a team-building program using rhythm and music through percussion instruments, and by starting the conference by raising their awareness as a member of a group, you can improve the value of the event.

Price (JPY)	250,000	Language	Japanese	Venue	Tokyo area
Capacity	1,000	Program duration	30 min.

*Reservation required

This program incorporates the "Training Beat" method. "Training Beat" uses music and rhythm along with elements of organizational theory and psychology. Using various percussion instruments, forming a circle and using sound and rhythm, people can experience the enjoyment of unity as well as empathy and togetherness regardless of their musical ability. A facilitator combining music and psychology will attempt to raise participants' awareness of and elicit the excitement of experience, self-worth, the beauty of harmony, and the synergy of working together. Through this abbreviated version of the "Training Beat" program, tension is eased, motivation heightened and participants feel united.
